NGSA and CLNG Joint Statement on Nomination of Mark Christie and Allison Clements to FERC

(Washington, D.C.) -- Dena E. Wiggins, president and CEO of the Natural Gas Supply Association, and Charlie Riedl, Executive Director of the Center for LNG, commended the White House on its nomination of Mark Christie and Allison Clements to the Federal Energy Regulatory Commission.

Dena Wiggins, president and CEO of NGS said:

“NGSA has long believed that a full set of commissioners at the FERC allows the Commission to best tackle issues and provides the best results. We look forward to the Senate taking up these nominations and look forward to working with a full slate of commissioners as they seek to address vital policy issues, such as the ongoing need for additional energy infrastructure and the robust discussion taking place around carbon pricing.”

Charlie Riedl, executive director of CLNG, said:

“As the global LNG market continues to grow and mature, a full set of commissioners at FERC is undoubtedly helpful for U.S. LNG. A full slate of commissioners will help projects better navigate the permitting phase of their development and provide additional certainty to project developers and international buyers.”

The Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA) represents integrated and independent companies that supply natural gas. Founded in 1965, NGSA is the only national trade association that solely focuses on producer-marketer issues related to the downstream natural gas industry. NGSA advocates for well-functioning markets that foster a growing, competitive market for natural gas. NGSA is dedicated to achieving a cleaner future through strong partnerships with renewables and supporting innovative technologies and market solutions that reduce emissions. For more information, please visit www.ngsa.org.

The Center for Liquefied Natural Gas (CLNG) advocates for public policies that advance the use of liquefied natural gas (LNG) in the United States, and its export internationally. A committee of the Natural Gas Supply Association (NGSA), CLNG represents the full value chain, including LNG producers, shippers, terminal operators and developers, providing it with unique insight into the ways in which the vast potential of abundant, versatile LNG can be fully realized.
